

COUNTY OF WALLA WALLA
STATE OF WASHINGTON
BOARD OF COUNTY COMMISSIONERS

INFORMATIONAL HANDOUT
OFFICE OF WALLA WALLA COUNTY COMMISSIONERS

There are no written outlines for the duties of a county commissioner in the State Constitution or the Revised Code of Washington. The first information provided below was developed by Walla Walla County and is based upon an informational booklet compiled by the Washington State Association of Counties.

Walla Walla County Commissioners

The basic form of county government is the Commissioner form. In 33 of Washington's 39 counties, county legislative and executive authorities are combined in boards of county commissioners also known as the county legislative authority. These elected officials are empowered to set county policy, adopt and implement laws and, except for the responsibilities of the other separately elected officials, carry out the day-to-day operations of the county.

County legislative authorities have three members elected to four-year terms. The county is divided into three districts with roughly equal populations and, at the time of election, each commissioner must live in the district he or she wishes to represent. In the primary election, only by voters of those open districts are allowed to vote; however, in the general election, all voters in a county vote for each county commissioner position on the ballot. County commissioners are elected on a partisan basis.

LEGISLATIVE AUTHORITY

As the county legislative authority, the Board of County Commissioners is responsible for adopting, amending or repealing all county ordinances, which are essentially laws of the county.

The county legislative authority fixes and adopts the county's annual budget, imposing the taxes and setting the fees to fund that budget. The amount each office and department may spend during the calendar year is established as part of the budgeting process. Amendments to the adopted budget are considered by the county commissioners during the year, pursuant to statute and sole authority. In addition, they make decisions on a wide variety of other subjects affecting the general health, safety, and welfare of county residents.

EXECUTIVE AUTHORITY

County commissioners operate all departments of the county, except those managed by other elected officials. Their responsibilities include:

- County roads and bridges
- Community mental health, substance abuse and developmental disabilities programs
- Juvenile detention facilities
- E-911 and emergency services
- Environmental protection
- Land use planning and zoning
- Building permits and inspections
- Cooperative extension
- County fair
- Public health
- County jail (Corrections)

OTHER:

Current Walla Walla County Commissioners are:

- James K. Johnson (Commissioner Johnson represents District 1. He is serving his second full term in office; his term expires December 31, 2020.)
- Todd L. Kimball (Commissioner Kimball represents District 2. He is serving his first term in office; his term expires December 31, 2020.)
- Gregory A. Tompkins (Commissioner Tompkins represents District 3 and is the 2020 Chair of the Board. He is serving his first term in office, and his term expires December 31, 2022.)

The Board of County Commissioners meets weekly, with session action agenda items generally planned for Mondays and workshops scheduled on Tuesdays. Agendas are usually finalized on Thursdays and commissioners' packets with all backup materials are furnished to each commissioner for review on Thursdays. Agendas and backup materials are available on the county website by noon on Fridays for public review.

Each county commissioner has many assigned state and local board and committee responsibilities, with associated meeting attendance. Generally county commissioners average approximately five daytime meetings a week (not counting weekly sessions), and at least two nighttime meetings a week, with meetings held throughout various areas of the county as well as in the Tri-Cities, Olympia, and other locations.

In addition, each county commissioner is assigned to serve as Board liaison for the various county offices and departments, and interacts with elected officials and department heads on various issues. Each month the commissioners meet with all county elected officials and department heads as a group.

Walla Walla County commissioners must be, and are, easily directly accessible basically 24 hours a day, seven days a week, by many means: In their offices; during commissioners' meetings; approaching them informally in public settings; calling them at the commissioners' office or on their personal cell phones; emailing them; or writing.

County commissioners have, almost without exception, the sole authority to encumber county assets and resources; execute contracts; manage county property; declare emergencies; set county fees and policies; employ and appoint county department heads; set salaries for county elected officials; and make appointments to boards as provided by statute, in addition to many, many other responsibilities. Their statutory powers are further listed in a separate document.

Persons interested in running for the position of county commissioner should contact the Elections Department of the County Auditor's office at 509/524-2530, or go to the county's website www.co.walla-walla.wa.us and select "Auditor", and then "Elections", for more information on filing for office, etc.
